Growing Instructions:

Sow indoors between March & April. Sow seeds 2 to a pot on their sides and cover with a fine layer of compost.

Protect the emerging seedlings from direct sunlight to prevent scorching.

Grow on until large enough to be transplanted and maintain a growing temperature of 15°C. When well grown they can be transplanted into large pots in a greenhouse or acclimatise to grow outside after the risk of frost has passed.

Harvest June - October.

An exceptionally reliable, heavy-cropping outdoor ridge cucumber bred to thrive in the UK. It produces crisp, uniformly dark-green cylindrical fruits up to 20cm in length and is highly prized for its resistance to powdery and downy mildew.
